'Anagrams' are a popular puzzle in the UK. To solve an anagram, we need to rearrange the letters of a phrase to find the missing word in the sentence. See the example below. All missing words have been taken from the Glossary. Then, once you have found the missing word, please read the sentence and decide who it is describing.

- e.g. [Mrs Boynton] seasonal pity = 'How can XXX hurt her own family like that?' said Sarah passionately.
- 1 [_____] I try belt = 'People would say we were crazy,' said XXX _____.
 - 2 [_____] lens owl = But at the centre of the group there was an old woman – with a large, _____ body.
 - 3 [_____] gene whiz = Then, in a slow, _____ voice, XXX spoke.
 - 4 [_____] each rhino zips = 'She may have a mental illness called _____... She is trying to escape her real life by living in a fantasy world'.
 - 5 [_____] memorable faint perm = 'As well as you, there's the archaeologist, Sir Manders Stone, and XXX a well-known _____'.
